

Bursaries & Scholarships 2017 – over $115,000.00 available

Bursaries: Based on need as well as marks

Scholarships: Based on marks

Deadline for applications: Thursday February 16, 2017.

Information and application forms will be e-mailed to students. Please ask Miss Jackson (office) to have it sent to you. No late submissions will be accepted.

Applications should be submitted on paper to Miss Jackson in the office. Please note some awards require specific application forms (the office will usually have these forms or ask Miss Jackson to e-mail them to you).

NOTE: Awards that say you must attend the institution within one year of graduation mean either this fall's session or January/spring session. If the award says you may defer for one year then you can defer to the next fall's session. Make sure the organization is aware of your registration date when applying. If you request a deferment the organization must approve that request in writing in order for you to receive the funds. Some groups do not allow deferments.

Bursary (varies)

$Variable

School to make selection

- The successful candidate must fulfill graduation requirements and be proceeding to a recognized post-secondary institution.
- The candidate must be planning a career in a medical field.
- The successful candidate may defer the bursary for one year with written approval.
- To receive the award the successful candidate must send a letter to PCSS with proof of registration along with their social insurance number, date of birth, phone number and mailing address.

Bill and Jane Chester retired in Creston after spending their working lives in Fernie. They were strong supporters of the communities in which they lived. Throughout their lives, they were especially involved and interested in medical discoveries and developments. Jane had contracted rheumatic fever when she was 10 and it damaged her heart. Bill suffered from a rock fall when he was 25 and injured his vertebrae. They were always appreciative of the efforts of medical professionals. Jane requested in her will that an award be set up to assist students from the Creston Valley who are interested in pursuing post-secondary studies in medical fields.
